BY AN ARMED FORCE.

So Only Could Queen Lil Be Restored to Her Throne.

Hawaiian Gazette's Declaration and Appeal to Patriotism.

All Quiet at Honolulu Up to the 24th of November.

(Copyright, 1893, Associated Press.)
AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Dec. 9.—The steamer Monowai has arrived here. She left Honolulu on Nov. 24. All was quiet there at that time.

The news that President Cleveland intended to restore the Queen caused great excitement. It was discussed by excited knots of people on the streets and was generally condemned.

A rumor was published in the Honolulu papers that the Queen was not willing to accept a restoration unless she was assured of the armed support of the United States.

The Hawaiian Gazette of Nov. 24 says: "In the mean time the monarchy is not restored, and will not be unless by the armed forces of the United States, whose forces must then continue to support the ex-Queen."

There may be small differences in the ranks of the party of reform, but we are to-day more united on the main issue than ever before. Let every reformer put aside all other and minor issues.

As surely as there is an eternal justice, the affairs of men, so surely will the great outrage proposed to be done to Hawaii fall of its purpose.

MAYARD ON HAWAIIAN POLICY.

Mr. Cleveland's Dealing Based on Justice and Humanity.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—A representative of the Associated Press showed to United States Ambassador Mayard to-day the special despatch to the Associated Press from Auckland. Mr. Mayard read it with great interest and then said:

"President Cleveland will deal with the weak Hawaiians in the most magnanimous manner and will not force upon them a government which they have not had a full chance to discuss."

Regarding despatches published in The Times and Standard to-day, indicating that President Cleveland is about to reverse his Hawaiian policy, and that new instructions to this effect have been sent to Hawaii, adding that the whole question would be sent to Congress, Mr. Mayard said:

"There can be no reversal of a policy based simply upon justice and magnanimity. President Cleveland's policy is one of non-interference; he had no intention of entering the island and deposing the Government."

"The policy of the United States towards Hawaii is not a selfish one; on the contrary, President Cleveland's intention is that no advantage shall be taken of the weakness of the Queen's party, and that the Queen shall have a full and fair chance to get on her feet, if possible."

"Hawaiian native autonomy has been so enfeebled by late events that I hardly know whether the Hawaiians can avail themselves of the offer of the President to restore the Queen to the throne."

The Associated Press representative at Liverpool has been informed that Mr. T. H. Davis, the guardian of the Princess Kaiulani, is now in Hawaii, and that the Princess is on the Continent.

The latest news received by a representative of Mr. Davis, in this country, confirms the special despatch to the Associated Press from Auckland.

ALARMED BY CHOLERA.

Sinister Reports from Constantinople and Tenerife.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Another despatch to The Standard says cholera has assumed dangerous proportions at Constantinople, and that the Greeks there complain bitterly of the inhumanity of the Turkish doctors.

The Daily News says that the captain of a steamer, which has arrived at Plymouth from Tenerife, reports that, owing to the cholera epidemic which prevails there all visitors are leaving the island, and the natives are greatly alarmed.

GLADSTONE IS BETTER.

Grand Old Man Well Enough to Start for Brighton.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—Mr. Gladstone is much better to-day, and will, it is expected, be able to proceed to Brighton this afternoon.

Baron von Butler to Represent Wurttemberg at Berlin.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—A Standard despatch from Berlin says that The Post states that Baron von Butler will succeed Herr Moser as Wurttemberg Minister at Berlin.

TRAVE IN TROUBLE.

Starting Shaft Disabled As She Passed the Bar To-day.

The North-German Lloyd steamer Trave, hence for Bremen, cleared the bar at 10.30 this morning.

At 11.15 she came to anchor outside the bar and signalled that her starting shaft was out of order.

The Trave had on board $500,000 in gold. It was shipped by Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., to the Bank of Germany at Bremen.

UMBRIA LOSES A PASSENGER.

A Swede, Who Sailed from This Port, Jumps Overboard.

(By Associated Press.)
LIVERPOOL, Dec. 9.—Gustave Anderson, a Swedish passenger, jumped overboard from the steamship Umbria yesterday and was drowned, although the steamship was stopped and boats lowered to rescue the drowning man.

The body was not recovered. The Umbria left New York Dec. 2 for this port.

SILVIA THORNE IN COURT.

Landlord Bangs Withholds Her Trunks for Board.

Mrs. Gertrude Tutill, wife of Theatrical Manager Ben Tutill, and known to the stage as Silvia Thorne, was a complainant in Jefferson Market Court this morning against Henry J. Bangs, the proprietor of the Sturtevant House.

Mrs. Tutill claims that Proprietor Bangs is holding her trunks illegally. She and her husband separated last week. Tutill went away to increase the size of the family pocketbook, and his wife went to live with her mother, Mrs. Titus.

A day or two ago, when Mrs. Tutill left to rejoin her husband in a boarding-house, Mr. Bangs refused to release her trunks. He contended that the hotel law gave him the right to hold the goods.

The examination in the case was adjourned until next Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Bangs was advised by Justice Koch, however, that he should probably have to release the baggage.

Mr. and Mrs. Tutill engaged rooms and board by the clock and therefore their transaction came under the boarding-house regulations.

CORARO AFTER HIS FEE.

Falls to Get an Order for Miss Ryan's Money.

Lawyer Francis Coraro this morning applied for an order from Justice Bartlett, in the Supreme Court, to compel Property Clerk Powell, of the Police Department, Brooklyn, to return $250 to Miss Josephine Ryan, of 45 Willoughby street.

Miss Ryan was arrested a few days ago on suspicion of having stolen $500 from an unknown politician.

She first engaged Lawyer May Klein to defend her for $100, but later engaged Lawyer Coraro for $250.

A bitter controversy was begun between Klein and Coraro to get control of the money in the hands of the Property Clerk to satisfy their claims for fees.

Justice Bartlett told Coraro to apply to the clerk and get the money, and if Judge Walsh refused he could apply for a writ of mandamus compelling him to do so.

MISTAKE LED TO PRISON.

Miss Cunningham Thought a Court Order Was for Her Brother.

Miss Della Cunningham, a handsome brunette, twenty-eight years of age, is a prisoner at the Ludlow Street Jail. She keeps a boarding-house at 622 Ninth avenue. Her brother used to keep a liquor store near the West Shore Ferry in Forty-second street. His sister says she attended the races too much.

David M. Koehler, a brewer, had a bill against him for $250. Judge Clegg gave him a party order for $250. Miss Cunningham's examination regarding her brother's property.

She thought the order was a communication for her brother, and laid it aside. Her arrest followed.

WILL SUE BANK DIRECTORS.

Receiver of the Defunct Commercial Bank Granted an Order.

Justice Bartlett, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning issued an order permitting Receiver Dykman to sue Seth L. Keeney, Albert S. Schneider, George Malcom, Rufus Resigge, James Locke, Robinson Gill, George Wilson, David W. Binn and John H. Rowland, as directors of the defunct Commercial Bank.

The action will be brought on the grounds that the directors issued, in alleged dividends amounting to about $12,000 in June, 1892, and June, 1893, out of the capital stock of the bank, instead of from its earnings.

SHE'S MRS. ELKINGTON

"Evening World" Reporter Finds "Mr. and Mrs. Newman."

With Her Children She Elopeed with Actor Valentine Henry.

The English Runaways Now at 687 Second Avenue.

Valentine Henry, an English music hall singer, and Mrs. William Elkington, wife of William Elkington, of Shoreham, Sussex, England, and living together as Mr. and Mrs. Henry on the top floor of the house 687 Second avenue. With them are Elaine and Laurence Elkington, respectively six and eight years old, and two as pretty children as one would see in a day's journey.

This prosaic paragraph explains the story published in the morning papers about the arrival in this country about Nov. 1 of an actor named Henry James and a woman whose name could not be learned, owing to the refusal of the English correspondent, who informed the Immigration Commissioners of an elopement of a wife, with her children, in highly respectable circles in Shoreham.

Detective Groden, of the Barge Office, failed to locate the missing group. To-day they were all found by an "Evening World" man in a single room on the top floor of the house in Second avenue.

They came to this country on the Majestic, which arrived here Nov. 1, coming in the steerage under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Newman and the children as Ada and Charles Newman. They first located at cheap lodgings in 12 Washington street, remaining there only two days, and then moving to 9 East Fourth street, kept by one Hoeburger. They remained there for Mr. and Mrs. Henry until two weeks ago to-day, when they moved to 182 Second avenue to apartments kept by Mrs. Bird Land.

Monday they moved to 687 Second avenue, just above Thirty-seventh street, and there they are to-day as Mr. and Mrs. Henry.

When the reporter called to-day Henry was still in bed. The room was in dire confusion, and the remnants of a meal were still on the table. Henry was sitting up, his face flushed scarlet, and he broke out into exclamations of surprise. Then as he finished he calmly remarked:

"That is about true in every respect. What is there to be done about it?" It was suggested that he tell the story of the mutual infatuation of himself and his companion for each other. He did so, and this is his story:

"This is the lady referred to. She is Mrs. William Elkington, of Shoreham, the wife of a doctor's assistant. I met her two months ago, when I was performing in Shoreham. I was introduced to her husband by a mutual friend, and at his (the husband's) request I spent a week at the Elkingtons' home."

"It was then we fell in love with each other and started to run off. I had taken my trunk and my gun and my hat, and we made our way to America, where I thought I could get plenty of engagements. My professional name is Valentine Henry, and I have appeared at Huber & Gertrude's, at the Casino, and at the Battery Park Concert Gardens. I had to do to-day as I did."

"I expect to appear at Huber's Museum in this city, and also at the Imperial Museum."

Here the man who robbed his friend of his wife and his children laughed coarsely, and was unable to continue the story. He evidently regarded it as a huge joke.

Mr. Elkington, who stood at the foot of the bed, picked up the narrative, and in a refined, gently modulated voice, said:

"I had nothing against my husband only I met a man I loved better. He says he wants our children. Well, he may take them. He could have had them before, for he knew we were in New York. I wrote to a mutual friend of ours in England that we were living in New York, and he sent me a letter."

"I married Mr. Elkington nine years ago. My maiden name is Turnerell, and I was born in Leamington, Warwickshire, England."

Elkington himself corded and strapped my trunks when I left home, he thinking as I was going to my father in law, and I was to continue the story.

"Oh, yes. I love Mr. Henry enough to do anything for him."

At this point the boy, Laurence, a sturdy, blue-eyed lad, drew away from his mother's side and went to a window with his face buried in his chubby hands.

"The little fellow had a realization of the situation and his eyes bubbled over with the tears and he sobbed as if his little heart would break."

Dainty little Elaine, his golden-haired sister, who sat on the bed, exclaimed in infantile glee:

"Oh, mamma! Lancy is crying." It was a truly touching sight, but neither the mother nor her lover paid the slightest heed to it.

ALL-NIGHT SALOONS NEXT.

Dr. Parkhurst Proposes to Train His Guns on Such Resorts.

Dr. Parkhurst will in a few days train his guns on the all-night saloons. He proposes to learn why certain saloons are permitted to remain open all night in defiance of the law.

Parkhurst states that when he asked the women who called at his house since their eviction from the Tenements, they had spent the night they invariably replied "in saloons." He says they reeked with beer and whiskey.

His law partner, Mr. J. G. Gordon, said that Mr. Chanler received a letter from the explorer about a month ago. The writer then said he had reached a very remote point, further than a white man had ever reached, and that he was going to push on.

CHANLER STRANDED.

Bad News of the Young American Explorer in Africa.

His Expedition Near Mount Kenia and Out of Supplies.

Animals Carrying His Stores Killed by Some Sort of Plague.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—The Royal Geographical Society has received news from the expedition headed by the American explorer, W. Astor Chanler, who is bound for Mount Kenia, in order to try and make the ascent of that great mountain in Equatorial Africa.

The advices state that the American expedition is stranded at Dhatcho, a few miles north of the equator, and not very far from the northeast of Mount Kenia.

Mr. Chanler was waiting for porters, donkeys and goods to arrive from the coast. His messengers had been gone four months up to the time of the advices, and it is doubted if the necessary supplies will ever reach the Chanler expedition.

The animals carrying the stores of the expedition perished from some kind of a plague. On Sept. 20 last Chanler had lost 150 donkeys and fifteen camels.

William Astor Chanler is about twenty-five years old, a son of the John Winthrop Chanler. He was graduated from Harvard when twenty-one years old, and went immediately to Africa.

With a small caravan of Zanzibaris at his back, he marched through Masailand, and was the first civilized man to make a complete circuit of Kilima-Njaro.

The expedition which the above advices relate to, was the largest ever organized and paid for as a private enterprise. It has been done regarding the sending of troops to Roby was simply to instruct military companies in several Northern Indian towns to be prepared to march to Roby at any time, in case they were required. Gov. Matthews has gone to Washington.

TROOPS ORDERED TO ROBY.

An Elkhardt Company Instructed to Be There To-morrow.

(By Associated Press.)
ELKHART, Ind., Dec. 9.—Company H, of the Third Indiana Regiment, located at this place, received orders to meet at Roby at 2 P. M. Sunday.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9.—The State Adjutant-General says that all that has been done regarding the sending of troops to Roby was simply to instruct military companies in several Northern Indian towns to be prepared to march to Roby at any time, in case they were required. Gov. Matthews has gone to Washington.

TALK ABOUT THE PRESIDENT.

It Is Said He Has Submitted to Another Operation.

But Dr. Bryant and the Others Mentioned Deny It.

Rumors are flying about town that on the occasion of President Cleveland's last visit to town he had to submit to another operation on his jaw.

It is said that Drs. Joseph D. Bryant, Albert H. Buck, Robert Lewis, Jr., and Dentist K. C. Gibson were the operators. The story goes that Dentist Gibson removed two of the President's teeth, and then Surgeons Lewis and Buck cut away a quantity of bone.

Three of the four men of medicine were interviewed by an "Evening World" reporter this morning. Dr. Lewis is ill, and could not be seen. All, however, deny that there is a word of truth in the latest story concerning the President.

Dr. Bryant said that the report was not worth the "dignity of a denial."

Dr. Buck declared that the reports were absolutely without foundation, and that neither he nor Dr. Lewis ever assisted at any operation on Mr. Cleveland's jaw.

Dentist Gibson declared that he never pulled a tooth for President Cleveland, and never expects to. Neither does he administer anesthetics.

Dr. Gibson said he knew that Dr. Bryant was in Washington on Monday, but was there for the purpose of purchasing improved surgical appliances.

Dr. Bryant is Surgeon-General of this State, and an appropriation was recently made for surgical implements.

MRS. DAVIS HAS WILLIAM R. ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT.

He Denies that He Wedded More Than One Woman.

William R. Davis, thirty-two years old, of 207 West Sixty-sixth street, employed as cabinet-maker at the Columbia Storage House, Fifty-sixth street and Eighth avenue, was arraigned in Yorkville Police Court this morning on a complaint of assault preferred by a woman who says she is his ninth wife, Mrs. Davis, who lives in Harlem.

Davis is a weak, puny little man, but he says he is not afraid of the women. Court Officer Beller has been looking for Davis for some time.

On Oct. 12 Mrs. Davis appeared in court with her eyes blackened and her face terribly bruised. She was in company with her mother, and secured a warrant for Davis's arrest. She then said and reiterated the story to-day, that Davis, on Dec. 2, 1901, slipped a ring on her finger and then declared that she would have her hands and feet tied together occasionally, notwithstanding the fact that she knew, she alleges, he had two wives.

Early in the month of October she said that Davis brought to her a woman named Mrs. Casey, who lives in Fifty-sixth street, near Tenth avenue, and wanted her to consent to allow Mrs. Casey to perform a criminal operation. She said that Mrs. Casey was wife No. 9. On her refusal, she said, Davis beat her with his fists and kicked her into insensibility.

Davis said that he was only legally married to one woman, and she is wife No. 1. Her maiden name was Kate Netterville. He married her in St. Ann's Church eleven years ago, and the fruits of their marriage were five children. He denied her with his fists and kicked her into insensibility.

The alleged wife No. 9 gave the names of some of the other wives. She said they were all living and she would produce them if so desired.

The hearing was then adjourned until Monday afternoon to enable her to get some of Davis's alleged wives in court.

Davis said that his wife, No. 9, was insane occasionally, and that she had been committed several times within the past two years to the World's Island Insane Asylum. She regained her liberty two months ago.

CAPT. LATOURETTE DEAD.

Staten Island's Wealthy Oysterman Passes Away.

TOTTENVILLE, S. I., Dec. 9.—Capt. Abram Latourette, the wealthy oysterman who a few weeks ago was declared to be of unsound mind, is dead. He passed away at his home here yesterday. His estate is valued at $150,000.

Two years ago he created a sensation by marrying Susan De Waters. He was eighty-five years old and leaves several children by his first wife.

TORTURED BY FIRE.

Lydia Savage Says a Hot Iron Was Thrust Into Her Mouth.

She Lips Her Story to the Justice and Shows the Scars.

Mrs. Emerson, the Accused Woman, Held for Trial.

Little eight-year-old Lydia Savage, a colored child who lived with Mrs. Lizzie Emerson, at 236 East Ninety-seventh street, told a story in Harlem Police Court this morning of having been punished with fire, that was made more credible by scars and blisters she showed the Justice.

Her words were liped slowly, could scarcely be understood at times, and when she was asked to talk more plainly she pointed to her blistered and swollen tongue, and said it, too, had been burned by her mistress.

Mrs. Emerson, who was a fairly intelligent-looking colored woman, denied the charges, and was held in $500 bail for trial.

She is the wife of James Emerson, a cook on the steamer Texas, of the Mallory line. Lydia Savage was born in the colored home at Sixty-fifth street and Second avenue. She was taken from the home by Mrs. McKenlie, of Jersey City, who was an aunt of Mrs. Emerson.

Three years ago Mrs. McKenlie died, and Lydia was given in charge of Mrs. Emerson. According to Lydia the alleged cruel treatment has been going on for some time. Last Thursday she ran away from her home, and went to a neighbor crying and said:

"I don't want to stay there any more. Mrs. Emerson burned my hand by holding it on a red-hot stove."

At the same time she raised her right hand, and showed the Justice a red, swollen, and blistered palm.

"She burned my tongue, too," continued the child, and then she showed her tongue, which was covered with white blisters and was terribly swollen.

The girl told the Justice that whenever she committed any childish offense Mrs. Emerson would punish her by burning her about the hands and body.

Last Thursday Lydia said, Mrs. Emerson charged her with having stolen bread and sugar, and then heated a stove and thrust it into the child's mouth.

The little girl told her story in a straightforward manner, and pointed to the ghastly burns that could be seen on her hands, arms and tongue.

However, that Lydia received the burns on her hands by falling on the stove and the burns on her tongue from hot potatoes she stole and concealed in her mouth.

Three Hurt While Coasting.

(By Associated Press.)
SHILLTON, Conn., Dec. 9.—While coasting last night on a double-rigger, Patrick Tobin, Walter G. Clarkson and Walter Conradi collided with a wagon at the foot of the City Street and Yaw, and their legs broken, and Conradi sustained fatal injuries.
